JUDGE BEGINS SECOND 10-YR. TERM ON BENCH

Judge W. C. Sheely began his second term as president judge of the Adams and Fulton county courts this morning when he was sworn into office for another ten-year term by Judge Harvey A. Gross.

Immediately following his induction into office, Judge Sheely administered the oath to five other holders of county offices, including Mrs. Emma E. Sheffer, clerk of courts, first woman in the county's 146 years of existence to be elected to a county office.

All swore to "support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of this Commonwealth . . . and to carry out the duties of my office with fidelity."

Thanks "Official Family"
Judge Gross, stating that he knew Judge Sheely's father and had always admired him, spoke briefly after the ceremony to congratulate Judge Sheely. He asserted to Judge Sheely that "I think the outstanding thing about your first term was the loyalty, ability, integrity and complete impartiality you displayed. The fact that you were unanimously re-elected to the position shows the esteem in which the people of Adams county hold you."

Judge Sheely thanked the "official family" of the county for the cooperation shown during the past decade.

"If the work of the court is at all acceptable," Judge Sheely said, "it is due to the work of the members of the 'official family,' the county office holders and the members of the bar. It has been a pleasure to work with all of you. I think every county official during the past ten years has realized that he is but a servant of the general public and has conducted his office accordingly."

Others Given Oaths
Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., offering his congratulations, pointed out that Judge Sheely had been the "unanimous choice" of the county bar association for re-election.

Attorneys Franklin R. Bigham, J. Francis Yake, Jr., and Edward B. Bulleit also appeared before the court to offer their congratulations. It was the first appearance before the local court of Attorney Edward Bulleit since his return from the army.

The other county officials sworn into office today included Mrs. Sheffer, Associate Judge A. Dale Knoose, Treasurer D. C. Stallsmith and Jury Commissioners Mervin I. Rice and Edgar E. Wolfe. Major Murray B. Prazee was sworn in as deputy county treasurer this morning by Treasurer Stallsmith.

MISS WRIGHT, NAVY VETERAN WED SATURDAY

Miss Dorothy E. Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wright, 116 West Middle street, became the bride of A. G. Martin, Joplin, Mo., retired veteran of 25 years of Navy duty, in a single ring ceremony performed by candlelight at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in St. James Lutheran church. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, officiated in the presence of more than 100 members of the families and friends.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Diamond, Philadelphia, Fred and Kenneth Wright, brothers of the bride, were the ushers.

The bride wore duodenet velvet with long sleeves and a drop shoulder line. The yoke was of pale chiffon and she wore a small hat and veil. She carried a white prayer book and an orchid with white rosebuds and lace attached to the steeper ribbons which were attached.

U. S. Army Asks Times To Find Lost Equipment

The army appealed to The Times today to help it in its efforts to recover a quantity of army equipment, lost Saturday somewhere between Pine Grove and Gettysburg.

The equipment, consisting of army blankets, ammunition and other articles, was lost from an army truck. The crew of three soldiers in charge of the truck discovered their loss after reaching Gettysburg.

The worries of these three soldiers would be mitigated, and a favor done the army if the person or persons who found this lost equipment would return it to The Times office, or notify The Times, in turn, will see that it is returned to the proper authorities.

PLAN BUSIEST ROAD PROGRAM HERE IN YEARS

The Adams county district of the State Highway Department, in common with the entire state, is expecting one of its biggest seasons in the history of the department, and is preparing for an early start in the spring. J. William Kendlehart, Jr., district engineer, said today, upon his return from a meeting of district engineers and superintendents held in Harrisburg Friday.

"We expect to start surface treatment of highways in Adams county earlier than ever before this year," Mr. Kendlehart said, "so that if the strike situation breaks up, we can be ready for new construction."

Major job in Adams county, other than repairs and maintenance work, will be re-surfacing of the Harrisburg road from York Springs to the county line, according to present plans, Mr. Kendlehart said.

To Build Bridge
Any construction of new bridges, including the bridge over Rock creek on Route 66 a mile above the Maryland line, a section of which was swept into the swollen stream December 29, will be done by contract, Mr. Kendlehart said, and will depend upon the availability of steel.

Heavy rain before the cold weather arrived caused formation of a "solid mass of frozen ground, and there is much danger of road buckling and road heaving should we have a sudden thaw and a sudden freeze," Secretary John U. Shroyer told the state engineers at the Harrisburg meeting. Mr. Kendlehart said conditions in Adams county were similar to those in other parts of the state. This is one of the reasons for the contemplated early start on highway work.

"We have been unable, during the past two or three years, to do much more than maintain the highways," Mr. Kendlehart said. "We have a lot of work to catch up."

SHAREHOLDERS OF B AND L MEET

The annual shareholders' meeting and election of officers of the Gettysburg Building and Loan association was held Saturday evening at a regular meeting of the organization in the arbitration room in the court house. Tellers for the election were Merle R. Stultz and Harry T. Stauffer, shareholders. A total of 722½ shares were voted and the following directors were re-elected for the current year:

Jesse E. Snyder, William L. Meals, Esq., Clarence A. Heiges, E. P. Miller, C. Arthur Brame, Morris W. Stansbury, William H. Pensyl, G. R. Thompson and Harry G. Deatrick.

Following the election the board effected the following organization: President, Mr. Snyder; vice president, Mr. Brame; secretary, Mr. Pensyl; treasurer, Mr. Stansbury; attorney, Mr. Meals; property committee, Mr. Heiges, chairman; Messrs. Bream, Thompson and Meals.

The annual report of the secretary showed the volume of business for the year 1945 to have been the largest since organization of the association in 1879. Reports of the business will be furnished all shareholders in the near future, which will be the sixty-fifth of the series. Patrons are requested to present their pass-books to the secretary at any future meeting, to have earnings credited.

The report submitted by the secretary disclosed a distribution of earnings of 3½ per cent for the year just closed.

KNOUSE PLANT CONCLUDES FOUR YRS. WAR WORK

With the shipment of 35 carloads of canned foods to the UNRRA for distribution to civilians in Europe the Knoose Corporation at Peach Glen will bring to a close a four year period of war work which produced 1,755,248 cases of fruit products for the U. S. Government.

M. F. Knoose, head of the Knoose corporation, made that announcement Saturday at the first annual New Year's party for the employees of the company and guests. The number of cases, he said, would make 26 train loads of 80 cars each or a train nearly three miles long.

Two former army chaplains, the Rev. George H. Berkeimer, Ardenstville and Dr. O. D. Coble, Bendersville, were the principal speakers at the three and a half hour program which followed a turkey dinner in the new cafeteria of the company located in the newly constructed Knoose plant, Peach Glen.

Urges Peace Efforts
Doctor Coble and the Rev. Mr. Berkeimer reported on America's war in the European and Southwest Pacific theaters respectively, but both ended with a plea that the gains made by the victory be not lost through failures of individuals and nations during the peace.

The Ardenstville pastor, telling of how the jungles at Port Moresby had completely reclaimed air strips built there in a period of a little over a year after they were abandoned, urged understanding that "this is one world and it cannot exist as a divided world."

Doctor Coble found as "most pathetic" and dangerous to world peace the prejudice some American soldiers have against the English. The English, he said, "are a delightful people, and their soldiers brave, intelligent and resourceful."

Present Program
Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Mary Howe, Payetteville, accordionist; Miss Dorothy Thomas, Lemoyne, marimba player; Prof. Ed Rice's Hambone quartet, including Professor Rice, George Boyer, Amos Sheely and R. R. Criswell, all of Ardenstville, and Prof. and Mrs. Charles L. Yost, Biglerville.

The affair marked the first formal program in the new cafeteria built at the Knoose plant. Constructed in the latest design, the restaurant was built with experts from the War Food Administration taking part in planning the layout of the main room and of the various kitchen equipment.

About 400 attended the party including the permanent employees of the Chambersburg plant of the Knoose company, Robert Young, chef at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary for many years, was introduced as the chef at the Peach Glen establishment.

SOLICITORS FOR BOY SCOUT DRIVE SERVE IN TEAMS

Names of 39 men and women who are assisting with the annual campaign for funds for the Boy Scout program in Adams county during 1946 were announced today by Dean W. E. Tilberg, district chairman and chairman for the financial drive. The solicitors began their work last Friday.

With the opening of the drive, it was announced that plans are underway for the establishment of an office in Gettysburg for the field executive of the Black Walnut district.

The list of solicitors for the Boy Scout fund is made up of four teams, each headed by a captain. The list follows by teams:

Mercury Climbs To 62 Degrees

The January "heat wave" that has been setting records all through the east pushed the mercury to a rare 62 degrees here at noon today after one of the warmest January nights on record here. The lowest reading recorded here during the night was 58 degrees which would compare well with the balmy spring evenings.

The occasional light showers accompanying the high temperatures helped remove the last traces of the snow that has covered this area since mid-December.

MORE THAN 500 AT LIBRARY FOR "OPEN HOUSE"

Adams County's Free Public Library—long a dream of many in the county—became a reality this afternoon when it issued its first books to a number of "charter" members.

The library drew more than 500 visitors Saturday at an "open house" designed to give the people of the county a first glance at their new establishment.

Besides the countians, the library also drew a number of notables in the world of books from all over Pennsylvania, who journeyed here to attend the opening festivities. Among them were Herbert B. Anstadt, Lancaster, president of the Pennsylvania Library Association; Miss Evelyn L. Matthews, Harrisburg, acting director of the State Extension Library division, and a host of others.

Story Hours
Starting the program for the "open house" was a story hour for children of the first three grades at 9 o'clock in the morning. Miss Margaret Howard and Mrs. M. Hadwin Fischer were the readers, and they had an attentive audience of 65 children. Mrs. E. S. Lewars and Mrs. John S. Rice were readers for a story hour for children of the fourth through sixth grades with 52 children attending.

Members of the board and library committee acted as hostesses for the day, showing guests through the two huge rooms of the library at 135 Carlisle street where approximately 6,000 books are already gathered.

The library was filled with flowers, gifts of The Gettysburg Times, the Library Staff of Gettysburg college, Miss Mary Himes, formerly of the college library staff, the staff of the Huntingdon County Library, the Wayside Flower shop and Ralph Blocher.

Hours during which the library will be open follow: 12 noon to 5 p. m. on Mondays and Tuesdays; 5 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Wednesdays; noon to 5 p. m. on Thursdays; 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Fridays and 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturdays.

Fix Book Rentals
While all Adams countians may take books free of charge, following registration, a small fee will be (Please turn to Page 2)

No Trace Found Of Escaped Prisoners

The two German prisoners of war who escaped from the stockade at the local POW camp last Thursday evening remain at large.

Inquiry today at the Public Relations Office at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation brought forth the information that "not a word" has been secured on the movements of the two Germans after they escaped from an "un-guarded corner" of the stockade.

The fugitives have been identified as Hans H. Harloff, 20, and Bernard Wagner, 24.

5 Year Old Girl Kidnaped; $20,000 Ransom Demanded

Chicago, Jan. 7 (AP)—A five-year-old girl was kidnapped early today from her North Side home, a note demanding $20,000 ransom was left in the bedroom, and her father, an OPA executive, pleaded for her safe return because "I have no money."

The child was Susan Degnan, daughter of James Degnan, board operations officer of the Chicago metropolitan OPA. Her mother, Helen, found the child missing at 7:30 a. m. when she went to awaken the girl. The note was discovered in the child's bedroom, and a seven-foot ladder was found leaning against the window sill.

After summoning police, Degnan issued a brief statement saying: "I have no money and I know of no reason why I should be a target for a kidnapping for ransom. Someone may think I have a lot of money, but I haven't—and I have no way of getting money. All that I can ask is that the girl be returned unharmed."

The Degnans moved to Chicago, Mrs. Degnan coming from Baltimore six months ago, and Degnan from Washington a year ago. His work

1,500 HENS AND COOP BURNED; LOSS IS $9,500

Damage was estimated at $9,500 early Sunday morning when a hen house on the poultry farm of Leo C. Johnson, Gettysburg R. 5, about three miles east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway, was destroyed by fire.

Fifteen hundred hens were consumed in the blaze which is believed to have started from defective wiring. A passing motorist discovered that the 110 by 20 foot frame building was aflame at 4:40 a. m. Sunday and sounded his horn until the Johnson family was awakened. The Gettysburg fire company was called but the fire was beyond control when the firemen arrived.

The building was about four years old, having been constructed when Mr. Johnson started his poultry farm. A recently completed hen house, somewhat larger than the one destroyed, located nearby, was not damaged. The loss was partially covered by insurance, Mr. Johnson said.

REPORT PILOT TO CAA AFTER LOCAL ACTION

A recently discharged Air Corps pilot, whose name is being withheld pending official action, has been reported to the state Civil Aeronautics Administration, Harrisburg, for piloting an airplane in violation of civil air regulations.

Richard Bircher, owner-operator of the Gettysburg Airport, gave this version of the case:

"On Sunday afternoon an ex-Air Corps pilot rented an airplane at the Gettysburg Airport. He carried a friend as a passenger. He had previously been checked out by Instructor Witzelman and exhibited satisfactory skill in handling the plane.

Cites Violation
"Shortly after the take-off the plane was put through maneuvers that were in violation of civil air regulations because such maneuvers are permitted only when the pilot and other occupants of the plane are wearing parachutes. Such maneuvers are unnecessary to plane travel.

"In line with promoting safety at the Gettysburg Airport as well as safeguarding the airport operator's responsibility, this matter has been reported to the proper authorities of the federal and state governments.

"The flight in question ended in a forced landing in a field about one-half mile from the airport."

In his report to the state Civil Aeronautics Administration Mr. Bircher added:

Observes Spinning
"A few moments after the take-off the plane was observed spinning at an estimated altitude of 2,000 feet and at a position about one mile southwest of the airport. When the plane stopped spinning it continued to lose altitude and was landed in a field adjacent to the runway.

"Instructor Leon Witzelman went to the scene of landing and learned from the pilot that the motor had died while the plane was in the spin. Witzelman flew the plane back to the airport and reported motor operation as normal. The motor had had only about 12 hours' use since it was overhauled at the factory."

The pilot and the occupant did not wear parachutes.

Services Are Held For Mrs. Breighner

Funeral services were held from St. Francis Xavier Catholic church this morning at 9 o'clock for Mrs. Amanda M. Breighner, 87, of 59 Hanover street, who died at the Warner hospital last Wednesday evening from a complication of diseases. The Rev. Fr. Carl Fives of Mt. St. Mary's officiated. Interment in the church cemetery.

The pallbearers were Paul Ramer, George Eberhart, Samuel Rhine, Harry Sneeringer, Clem Redding and Raymond Weaver.

OPEN DRIVE FOR USED CLOTHES TO SHIP OVERSEAS

The Victory Clothing Collection for overseas relief, which opened today throughout the nation and will continue through January 31, is being sponsored locally by committees from the three Gettysburg service clubs.

Using the national slogan, "What can you spare that they can wear?" the community committees have set out to top last year's record when over seven tons of clothing was gathered here.

The Clarence Epley machine shop building, located in the middle of the first block of South Washington street, has been selected as the local collection center.

Local Committees
Plans for the local campaign will be advanced at a meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the YWCA building. The local committees include:

Lions—Cloyd Shetter, chairman; Fred G. Threxell, Robert Sheads, James Shenk and Hugh C. McIlhenney.

Rotarians—Ralph E. Arnold, chairman; Walter Africa, Henry Garvin, Paul A. Kinsey, C. O. Schweizer and Vernon Corle.

Soroptimists—Mrs. Wayne Keet, Mrs. Elizabeth Hennig, and Mrs. Louella Musselman Arnold.

Other Towns To Organize

The campaign for clothes in the upper end of the county will be conducted by this committee from the Upper Adams Lions club: Lloyd W. Kuhn, chairman; Marcus O. Ritter and J. Willis Weigle.

Mr. Shetter said today that these other communities expect to form local groups to handle the clothing drive: New Oxford, York Springs, Fairfield, McSherrystown and Cash-town. Littlestown already has formed its committee and has its clothing campaign underway.

The cooperation of churches and church groups, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, college and high school groups, grade school children, lodges, fire companies and veterans' groups and their auxiliaries is being asked in broadcasting the appeal for clothing and in helping in gathering the clothes for shipment abroad. Containers are to be placed in school buildings and at other public (Please Turn to Page 5)

ADD $1,330 IN NEW BOOKS TO LAW LIBRARY

The Adams county Law Library secured books and periodicals valued at $1,330.80 during the past year according to the annual report of the Law Library committee presented in court this morning.

Signed by Attorneys Franklin R. Bigham, John P. Butt, William L. Meals and Richard A. Brown, the report showed a balance of $148.99 at the end of the year. Receipts for the year totaled $803.33 and a balance of $676.46 remained from 1944. Of the receipts $650 came from county funds and the remainder from percentages of the lawyers' fees as masters and auditors and from Judge W. C. Sheely.

Largest additions to the library were over 200 volumes of the Southern Reporter and the Northern Reporter for which $800 was expended.

Court Appointments
Other business of the court included the appointment of John W. Woods as auditor of Freedom township to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William M. Scott.

Arthur Shandbrook was named to the Board of Supervisors of Mt. Joy township to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William K. Thomas.

A 90-day extension was granted Attorney Eugene V. Bulleit, the master, to permit him to secure more evidence before submitting his report in the divorce suit of Guernon C. Warren and Hilda Dull Warren.

A scheduled hearing in the action in trespass brought by Harold C. Gabler, Chambersburg, against Dwight L. and Paul Strausbaugh, Gettysburg, was postponed until February.

Five Youths Face Serious Charges; Staley Is Injured

Five Adams county youths will face charges ranging from aggravated assault and battery and resisting arrest to disorderly conduct before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, Tuesday afternoon, as the result of what borough police termed a "brawl" at Mitchell's restaurant, Center Square, an attempt to rescue one of the youths from the police, and a "mob" scene at the Adams county jail, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Those under arrest, and the charges, were: Charles Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. 5, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct; Clifford G. Chapman, Orrtanna R. D., resisting arrest, assault and battery and disorderly conduct; Donald R. Baker, Biglerville R. 2, Paul Mcleaf, Biglerville R. 1, and Oliver W. Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. 5, disorderly conduct.

Police Officer Clark W. Staley, who made the arrests suffered a fractured rib on his right side when he was struck by Chapman when the latter refused to get into the police car. On orders of Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster, he was examined by Dr. Chester G. Crist, and later had X-rays taken at the Warner hospital which revealed his injury.

USVW, ALLIED GROUPS MEET HERE IN JUNE

Gettysburg will play host this summer to the annual convention of the (Pennsylvania Department of the United Spanish War Veterans for the third time in the last six years.

Official confirmation of Gettysburg as site for the 42nd annual gathering of the state USVW has been received by George Rightmyer, commander of the Sgt. William M. Steffy camp No. 126, of Gettysburg and general chairman for the convention committee. The confirmation was made by John D. Martz, Greensburg, state department commander.

Dates announced for the convention are June 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 with the headquarters of the department to be established in the Hotel Gettysburg on June 7. Also meeting at the same time are the United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, the Sons of '98 and Daughters of '98 and the two "fun" organizations of the USVW and Auxiliary, the Grand Lair, Military Order for the Serpent and the Military Order of Lizards.

Expect 1,500 Visitors
Approximately 1,500 are expected to attend the sessions. In 1944, last year the state USVW met in Gettysburg, 1,360 delegates and others were present. Last year the Auxiliary held its sessions in Gettysburg while the USVW met in Harrisburg.

The annual memorial services are scheduled for Sunday, June 9, at 8 p. m. in St. James Lutheran church. Mr. Rightmyer announced. The program will be open to the public and will be under the direction of USVW Department Commander Martz and the president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Louise Kelfer, Philadelphia.

While all arrangements have not been completed for the sessions, the opening day's activities on June 8 will include registration of delegates and an auto caravan to Scotland school where the delegates will attend the annual commencement exercises. Meetings of the men's organization will be held in the court house. The ladies will gather at St. James Lutheran church.

Close Jail, County Home To Visitors

No more visitors will be allowed at the Adams county home and the county jail until further notice, it was announced today.

Taking steps to prevent the spread of gripe among the charges of the county, the Adams County Commissioners and the county physician, Dr. C. G. Crist, banned all visiting and religious services at the county institutions until the epidemic has run its course.

Rev. Fox Speaks At Anniversary Service

As president of the Mercersburg Synod, the Rev. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church here, addressed the 25th anniversary service of the Rev. Paul D. Yoder as pastor of Jefferson charge at St. Jacob's church, York county, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In a service Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Fox installed the Rev. William H. Banks as pastor of Grace Reformed church at Hanover.

Two In Jail
Both the Kuykendalls remained in jail today. Bail for Charles Kuykendall was fixed at $500 on the charge of resisting an officer in the performance of his duty and $15 cash bail on the disorderly conduct charge. Cash bail of $15 was fixed in the case of Oliver Kuykendall. Chapman was released in $1,000 bail on the three charges placed against him. Baker and Mcleaf were free in $15 cash bail each.

Officer Staley received a call from the restaurant and reported that he found a "brawl" in progress in the restaurant between the accused and Edgar Shealer, night manager. Mr. Shealer declared, according to Officer Staley's report, that he wanted Chapman taken into custody. Staley placed him under arrest, took him outside and placed him in the police car.

Officer Obstructed
"When I went to the driver's side I was blocked from entering by Charles Kuykendall," the officer said in his report. Meanwhile, Chapman got out of the car on the other side. Staley shoved Kuykendall aside and went after Chapman. He told him to get back in the car and Chapman refused and struck Staley in the right side of his chest.

Staley then used force, and took Chapman to jail, but while there, got another call from the restaurant. He was requested to proceed there at once, "with help." According to Staley's report, he attempted to contact Officers Paul Shealer and Charles W. Culp, Jr., who were off duty, but without success. He returned to the restaurant, where Manager Shealer told him that Baker, Mcleaf and an unidentified youth, were causing an additional disturbance.

Second Interference
While the officer was taking these three to the police car, Charles Kuykendall again interfered, according to the report, and due to the interference, the unidentified prisoner escaped.

As Staley placed Baker and Mcleaf in the police car, Charles Kuykendall allegedly shouted: "Come on fellows, we'll take them away." But Staley was successful in getting Baker and Mcleaf to the jail, where they were also placed in the custody of the sheriff.

A crowd estimated at 40 or more persons followed the police car, and congregated outside the jail. When Staley went to the door of the jail, he said Charles Kuykendall was there, and he arrested him also. Then he received the third call from the restaurant, and Manager Shealer said I should "apprehend Oliver Kuykendall on his (Shealer's) information." Staley went out the door of the jail and arrested Oliver.

Disperse Crowd
Chief Harpster and Sgt. W. Kurt Duhkroff, in charge of the Gettysburg sub-station of the state police, arrived at the jail, and aided Staley in dispersing the crowd. The officers went to Squire Snyder's office, where the information was laid.

Staley placed charges of resisting arrest and assault and battery against Chapman and a charge of resisting arrest against Charles Kuykendall. The disorderly conduct charges were laid against all five youths by Mr. Shealer, the restaurant manager.

Hearings are scheduled for 2 p. m. Tuesday.

PICKS PANSY TODAY

The unseasonably warm weather over the past week-end removed most of the snowbanks throughout the county and brought a report today from Mrs. Q. W. Hershey, York Springs, that she picked a full-sized purple pansy in her rock garden this morning. The pansy appeared a day after the snow melted from the garden.

MOST YANKEES NOT IMPRESSED WITH "FOLIES"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP World Traveler)

Paris, Jan. 7 (AP)—The French capital's famous girl-show, the Folies Bergeres, has, of course, always been a revealing affair, but in these post-war days one finds it making disclosures in a far larger sense than is implied in our little pun.

One shouldn't expect, for instance, to be able to gauge the state of the nation from a visit to the Folies, or yet to make interesting psychological observations regarding the genius Yankee-GI. Still that has been the experience of Madame Mack and myself on renewing acquaintance after some years with this internationally-known variety show.

We sat on the center aisle and five rows back. We noted that a large percentage of the crowd was American officers and GIs.

Short of Coal

Our first discovery had to do with the state of the nation, and it was indeed startling. The great theater was unheated although it was sub-freezing. Most spectators kept their overcoats on, as did many of the orchestra, and they still were cold. The real sufferers, however, were the ladies of the cast, who were in an unhappy state of deshabille for such a night. G strings aren't great protection against wintry blasts, and some girls were blue with cold. Still they were good troupers, for they went through two and a half hours of torture without losing their smiles.

So here again there was registered in an extraordinary manner one of the most dangerous problems not only of France but of all Europe—the terrible shortage of coal and other fuel. This shortage is striking everywhere—homes, public places, business houses, industries. It fills the winter months with peril.

However, to return to the Folies Bergeres. Mrs. Mack and I were much interested in getting the reaction of the GIs to this G-string symphony, which is considerably more liberal than the shows to which the boys are accustomed at home. The present Folies, by the way, are no more free-and-easy than were those which I saw offered a generation ago during the last But the Folies were naive. That's the naked truth.

Yanks Unimpressed

It must be admitted that some very handsome figures drifted across the stage. Still (and we thought this would be of particular interest to the girls back home) the GIs showed little or no enthusiasm. They applauded a superb strong-man act, some very funny turns by a comedian and other bits—but had small commendation for the back-to-nature scenes. The boys just sat there, chewing gum and viewing the display with an impartial and unemotional attitude.

When the show was about half through I asked a sergeant what he thought of it. He considered my question for a minute and then replied cynically:

"I was trying to figure that out myself."

And what does all this mean? Well, if you are going to suggest that the boys are blasé, you will be wrong. Healthy minded lads don't get blasé. I think it means that a little of this sort of entertainment goes a long way with the average American.

Autopsy Ordered In Woman's Death

Greensburg, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—An autopsy into the death of Mrs. Ruby Cowell, of Greensburg, has been ordered by Coroner H. A. McMurray.

Mrs. Cowell was found unconscious Friday in the rear seat of an automobile parked on a highway near here, and died early the next day in Westmoreland hospital.

John Hoak, Jr., a discharged soldier, who was found in the front seat of the car, was reported recovering from what physicians described as the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning.

State police said a window in the car was open about an inch, and although the ignition was turned on, the motor was not running.

Eight Veterans File Discharges

The following have filed their discharges for recording at the court house here: Pvt. Harry R. Moser, 41 West Railroad street; Pfc. Elmon W. Williams, 228 Buford avenue; T-5 Bernard P. Harwood, Hanover R. 4; S-1-c John Adams Guise, Sr., from the navy; Coxswain John William Sanders, from the navy; S. Sgt. Philip S. Keagy, Denver; 1st Lt. Leroy S. Whitson, 308 Springs avenue; Ship's Cook 2-c Ray Edward Hawk, from the navy.

RESIGNS POSITION

Miss Dorothy Barbour, secretary in the office of Adams County School Superintendent J. Floyd Slaybaugh, resigned her position, effective today, and assumed a new position as secretary in the office of the Adams County Electric Co-Operative. Her position at the school superintendent's office has not been filled.

Engagement Wisler-Cashman

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cashman, New Oxford R. D., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean C. Cashman, to John R. Wisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wisler, East Berlin R. D.

Weddings Altoff-Weaver

Miss Mary Margaret Weaver, daughter of Mrs. Alverta H. Weaver and the late Thomas O. Weaver, and Paul Edward Altoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Altoff, were united in marriage this morning at 8 o'clock at a nuptial low mass celebrated in St. Aloysius church, Littlestown, by the pastor, the Rev. John H. Weber. The single ring ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The bride was attended by Mrs. John Rudisill, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. The bridegroom had as his best man, Dale E. Weaver, brother of the bride. Robert V. Weaver and P. Emory Weaver, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, leg of mutton, pointed sleeves and a long train. Her finger tip length veil was of white net, with a heart shaped satin coronet and a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book, belonging to a friend with whom she is associated in the Harrisburg Diocesan Council of National Council of Catholic Women. It was topped with an orchid and a shower of sweethearts, rosebuds and satin streamers. Her jewelry was a white ivory cross and matching bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom, brought from Switzerland.

The matron of honor wore an old rose rayon taffeta gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, three quarter length gathered sleeves and a full skirt with ruffled inserts. As her headress she wore a shoulder length rose net veil with a velvet flowered coronet. She carried a white muff with an arrangement of light pink rosebuds and deep pink carnations with a shower of multi-colored ribbon and rosebuds.

Miss Anna C. Weaver, cousin of the bride and church organist, presented a 15-minute recital prior to the ceremony. The wedding marches of Carl Rossini were used.

Immediately following the ceremony a tenor solo "Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling" was sung by James Collins. He also sang the "Pines Angelicus" at the offertory of the mass. During the communion, a duet, "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" was sung by George and James Collins.

Guests at the wedding were presented with a leaflet missal containing the prayers for the "Mass On the Day of Marriage." The church and altars were decorated in keeping with the holiday season. A wedding breakfast for the immediate families was served at George Kress's restaurant, where the groom is employed. A two-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom occupied the center of the bride's table. The table decorations emphasized the holiday atmosphere. The couple left on a wedding trip of unannounced destination.

The bride's going away outfit was a navy blue two-piece suit, with a navy blue topper, and navy and white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside for the present, at the home of the bride.

Mr. Altoff is a graduate of Littlestown high school, class of 1928. He was recently discharged from the army, after serving for 43 months, 18 months of that time in the European theater. Mrs. Altoff is a graduate of Littlestown high school, class of 1934, and is employed as book-keeper-secretary in the office of the Windsor Shoe company.

Zepp-Plymire

Miss Geraldine G. Plymire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Plymire, York, and Ralph W. Zepp, son of Mrs. Cora Zepp, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Grace Methodist church, York, by the Rev. D. Perry Buck.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Plymire, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Harry Plymire and Miss Helen Plymire, Emigsville, aunts of the bride, Miss Ruth Hess and Miss Meda Welchert, Miss Janet Zepp, sister of the bridegroom, was the junior bridesmaid.

Fred Gelselman, Littlestown, was the best man. The ushers were Charles Landes and Raymon Miller, Dallastown.

The bridegroom graduated from Littlestown high school in 1942. He is employed by the York Corporation plant.

The couple will reside at 38 Dewey street, York, following a wedding trip through the south.

Week Of Prayer Services Underway

"Hidden Riches" will be the theme of the sermon to be delivered this evening in the second of the Week of Prayer services to be held at 7:30 o'clock in the Church of the Brethren by the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity Evangelical and Reformed pastor.

Week of Prayer services opened Sunday evening in College Lutheran church with a sermon on "The Right Beginning" by the Rev. Roy K. Miller, pastor of the Church of the Brethren. The pastor of the host church, the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putnam, conducted the service.

The offerings Sunday evening and this evening go to the China Relief fund. Sunday's service was well attended.

DEATHS

Mrs. James J. Kelly

Mrs. Emma Rebecca Kelly, 60, wife of James J. Kelly, died very suddenly last Thursday midnight at her home in Emmitsburg after a heart attack. It was the second attack she had suffered in about a week. Mrs. Kelly was born in Emmitsburg but had lived in Altoona, Pa., for about 35 years, returning to Emmitsburg with her husband three years ago. She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church and the Sodality of Blessed Mothers Society.

A daughter of the late Michael and Marjorie O'Toole Lings, she is survived by her husband and the following brothers and sisters: Felix, George and John Lings, St. Anthony's; Mrs. John White, Frederick; Mrs. Roy Saylor, Washington; Clarence and Arthur Lings, Baltimore.

Requiem mass this morning at St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock. Interment in adjoining cemetery.

Group Opposes Palestine Probe

Pittsburgh, Jan. 7 (AP)—The National Conference on Palestine last night adopted a resolution urging the American Zionist Emergency Council to withdraw from participating in the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine, scheduled to start work tomorrow in Washington.

Withdrawal was called for by Judge Rothman, president of the Jewish National Fund of America, who declared the Zionists had "had bitter and disappointing experiences in the past with British commissions of inquiry on Palestine."

The resolution expressed appreciation for "the sympathetic interest" of President Truman "in the tragic position of the surviving Jews of Europe" that led the President to the decision America should participate in the committee of inquiry.

POSTS CASH FOREFEIT

Melvin P. Oyler, Hanover street, arrested early Sunday morning on a charge of reckless driving, by Police Officer Clark W. Staley, was scheduled for a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. He posted $13.50 cash forfeit.

YARN FOR SWEATERS

The Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross has yarn for 200 army sweaters, which it would like to have taken and made up so that it may finish its quota as soon as possible. The sweaters are badly needed, particularly in army hospitals, Miss Margaret McMillan, secretary, said.

Upper Communities

Mrs. Gesorge M. Dill, accompanied by her daughter, Elizabeth, and son Franklin, Washington, D. C., spent the week-end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. T. Dill, Biglerville. Dr. and Mrs. Dill had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burns, Washington, D. C.

Miss Josephine Couch has returned to St. Lawrence university, Canton, N. Y., after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Gallagher, Guernsey. Miss Couch had as guests during her visit Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burkholder, Harrisburg.

Audiometer tests are being conducted at Biglerville high school today and Tuesday by Mrs. John Crawford, the school nurse.

Dr. Harold Heiges, of Washington, D. C., visited his mother, Mrs. E. Dale Heiges, of Biglerville, Saturday.

Miss Martha Hollabaugh has returned to the University of Syracuse, New York, to resume her studies after the Christmas vacation spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hollabaugh, of Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reisinger were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Kleinfelder, of Biglerville. Mr. Reisinger, who is on military leave from the faculty of Biglerville high school, is planning to take graduate work at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, the remainder of this year.

ed to the prayerbook. Her attendant wore an aqua wool dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of camellias.

Richard B. Shade, church organist, used the traditional wedding marches and also played "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

In Five Invasions

After the wedding a reception was held at the Wright home with about 75 persons in attendance. The couple will remain here for several days and then go to Philadelphia where the bride is chief anesthetist at the Mt. Sinai hospital. Mrs. Martin attended Gettysburg high school and then entered training at the Harrisburg hospital and after graduation took post graduate work in anesthesia at the Jewish hospital in Philadelphia before joining the staff at Mt. Sinai 12 years ago. Mrs. Diamond is maternity supervisor there.

Mr. Martin, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Martin, of Joplin, entered the navy in 1920 and retired last November with the rank of chief signalman. He served throughout World War II in the American and Pacific theaters. Assigned to an LSV, he took part in five Pacific invasions including the Philippines and Okinawa. He was at Great Lakes Training Station when the war began.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding included persons from Philadelphia, Waynesboro, Hanover, Harrisburg and Baltimore.

College Students To Study Government

Meadville, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—President Richlie Schultz announced today that Allegheny college would participate with five other colleges in a "Washington semester" plan starting in the spring of 1947.

He said 20 outstanding social science students from the schools would be chosen each year to spend the spring semester in Washington to get first-hand contact with administration of national government.

Three courses in subjects related to social science are to be offered the students, along with individual research, visitation and investigation of scientific and administrative institutions in the nation's capital.

He said other colleges taking part in the inter-institutional program were Oberlin, Wooster, and Hiram colleges, all in Ohio, Westminster college at Fulton, Mo., and the American university at Washington.

County Auditors Start Work Today

The Adams county auditors, John S. Wolfe, Biglerville R. D. S. M. Keagy, Littlestown, and Armer M. Weikert, Gettysburg, today began their work of examining the books of the county departments at the court house.

The auditors said they hope to finish their work by April 1. Two new accounts have been added this year, the servicemen's discharges in the register and recorder's office, and the county library account.

BULLETS TRIP JUNIATA 44-33 IN ROUGH TILT

In one of the roughest games played on the college court in many days, the Gettysburg college quintet maintained its spotless record by defeating Juniata Saturday night 44-33 before a near-capacity crowd.

A total of 48 free throws were awarded during the game, the Bullets converting 14 of 25 and the Indians 11 out of 23.

High mark in the foul shooting exhibition came in the second period when no less than 16 free throws were awarded. Neither team scored a field goal in the third period until Davey Plank whipped in a one-hander after more than five minutes of play had elapsed, eight free throw attempts featuring the first minutes.

Fast Start

The Bullets started off with a rush on a free throw by Welliver and goals by Kaskowski and Howard before Brumbaugh landed a long throw. The Bream-men moved ahead 14-4 midway in the period. The Indians then cut the lead to 14-8 at the period.

After Juniata had cut the Bullets' lead to 14-11 early in the second period the locals rallied to move out in front 22-12. A fast finish with a one-handed shot by Clapperton just before the half ended reduced the Bullet margin to 24-21.

The third period saw a steady procession of players to the free throw lane. At the start of the final period Gettysburg was out in front 36-26.

Western Maryland Next

Coach Bream used a flock of reserves in the final period as several players went out to personal fouls. Juniata found the same true.

The victory marked the third straight for the Bullets. Wednesday the Bream-men play Western Maryland at Westminster and next Saturday meet Lehigh here in a Middle Atlantic league game.

Los Angeles Open In Nelson's Grasp

Los Angeles, Jan. 7 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the golfing nonpareil, was on the threshold today of capturing one of the few major tournament titles to elude his grasp—the $13,333.33 Los Angeles open.

With a 212 for 54 holes, Lord Byron ruled as the gallery's favorite to wrap up the $2,666.67 first place victory bond in the final round. At least half of the 9,000 fans followed Nelson as he methodically stroked out a one-over par 72 in yesterday's third round to take a two-stroke lead.

Still tied for the runner-up spot were Sam Snead, defending champion from Hot Springs, Va., and Jim Ferrier, of Chicago, who posted 73's for 214 totals. Close up, and dangerous in case Nelson should slip, were Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., 216; colorful Jim Demaret, Houston, Tex., and Tony Penna, Dayton, O., 217; Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Me., and Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., 218.

Bob Ritter Wins Mid-Atlantic Run

Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—Bob Ritter, Philadelphia, paced a field of 40 candidates to win the fourth annual Middle Atlantic A.A.U. handicap street run yesterday over a 3½ mile course. Ritter, giving a 30 second handicap, finished in 18 minutes and nine seconds.

Browning Ross, former New Jersey interscholastic champ from Woodbury (N. J.) high school, chalked up the best time from scratch—15:33—but finished 14th when his three minute, 30 second handicap gave him a 19:03 time.

OARSMEN TO REPORT

Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—Inter-collegiate rowing resumes at the University of Pennsylvania today for the first time since 1943.

Some 130 candidates are expected to report for the first practice sessions, Coach "Rusty" Callow reported, though only three ever rowed competitively before.

In the past six years, the United States has jumped from about one-third of world tanker tonnage to almost 65 per cent.

Caps Explode Cleveland Jinx

(By The Associated Press)
The Indianapolis Capitals, pacing the western division of the American Hockey league from the start of the season with the exception of one day, finally won a victory over Cleveland's Barons today after a wait of exactly 11 weeks.

A record home crowd of 9,620 fans saw the Caps, now tied for first by Pittsburgh, explode their Cleveland jinx last night with a 9-0 shellacking. Previously the Caps had suffered three defeats and two ties in five contests with Cleveland.

Pittsburgh's Hornets remained right up there with the Caps by virtue of a free-scoring 8-6 triumph over Providence, their third straight win.

Buffalo stretched its first-place lead in the eastern division to five points with a 6-1 victory over second-place Hershey before 10,277, three goals in the final period enabled the St. Louis Flyers to win from the Eagles at New Haven, 7-5, last night.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—When the Association of College Baseball Coaches gets together tomorrow in St. Louis, the boys likely will find some good material for yelping in the fact that the Reds recently signed Ted Kluszewski out of Indiana university while he still had a couple of years of baseball and football eligibility. . . . But the Cincinnati club isn't anticipating any trouble with I.U., with which it has very friendly relations. . . . Ted was married recently and was determined to play pro ball, one Redleg official explains, "and Indiana probably would prefer to have him go with us than any of the other clubs that were after him." . . . The low-down on that puzzling Ohio State coaching switch, as related by mid-westerners, is that the "invasion" of Ohio by out-of-state coaches was primarily responsible. . . . Seems that Carroll Widdoes isn't the persuasive type needed to keep the boys at home while Paul Bixler operates more in the Paul Brown manner.

MONDAY MATINEE
Five thousand men of the famous 82nd Airborne Division will be guests of Promoter Mike Jacobs at tonight's Lee Savold-Al Hosman fight. . . . Bob Feller, who busted into print about barnstorming last fall, and who will help with a pre-training camp for GI baseballers this spring, also is listed as a possible backer of the Denver club in a new western baseball league. Wonder if Bib figures just being the best pitcher in the business isn't enough for him?

Unbeaten Teams Face Further Cuts
New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Already trimmed down to 15 teams, the fast-dwindling ranks of major unbeaten college basketball teams appear facing another sharp pruning as the cagers enter one of the busiest weeks of the campaign.

With most of the cross-country tours and intersectional tilts completed, the hoop brigade gets down to the more serious business of conference play.

Among those still unbeaten and rated close to the top of the heap are Wyoming (9-0), Indiana (8-0), Iowa, Notre Dame and West Virginia (7-0), Cornell and Tulane (6-0), and Yale (5-0).

Speedways Offer $100,000 In Prizes
Williams Grove, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—Williams Grove speedway opens its 1946 automobile racing season April 14 with the first sanctioned AAA program since Pearl Harbor, owner Roy Richwine announced today.

The national contest board of the American Automobile Association is offering $100,000 in prizes to competitors in the five-track circuit, which includes, besides Williams Grove, Thompson, Conn., Dayton, O., Winchester and Fort Wayne, Ind.

In addition, $30,000 will be contributed as prizes by automotive manufacturers and oil concerns at the close of the season on the basis of point standings, Richwine said.

"It is the aim of myself and the promoters of the other speedways in the circuit," Richwine asserted, "to place auto racing on a high level in keeping with its rightful position among other major sports."

Williams To Fight Dawson In Philly
Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—Ike Williams, the Trenton (N. J.) slugger rated champ of his division by the National Boxing association, will fight Chicago's Freddy Dawson—the second meeting between the pair—in a 10-round, non-title bout at the Philadelphia arena, Jan. 28, Promoter Herman Taylor announces.

Williams kayced Dawson in the fourth period on September 19, 1944.

CHANDLER AT READING
Reading, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—Baseball's high commissioner, Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, will address the eighth annual Reading Oldtimers Baseball association dinner, Jan. 30. Approximately 1,000 persons, including Sen. Joseph Guffey (D. Pa.) are expected to attend.

HEWSON KEEPS OWLS AT TOP IN STATE RACE

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—Six-foot-six Jack Hewson tallied almost half of Temple's points—an astronomical 32 markers—to pace the towering Owls to a luck 70-60 win over upset-conscious La Salle college and keep the Templars at the top of the Keystone State collegiate basketball parade.

Hewson's goal barge—nine field goals and 14 foul throw conversions—kept Temple in the ball game throughout.

The victory was one of 11 recorded by Pennsylvania college quintets in 1946's first big week-end of play. Sixteen teams lost but 18 of the schools were involved in strictly intra-state fray.

The University of Pennsylvania, defending its eastern intercollegiate title, virtually blacked out of the championship race by bowing to the Big Green of Dartmouth 46-45 in the last 44 seconds of play. It was the Quakers second league loss.

St. Joseph's college's train ride to New York and its visit to Madison Square Garden was not successful. The Hawks, fielding a team composed only of freshmen and sophomores, fell fighting, 59-40, before the sharpshooting of a St. John's of Brooklyn quintet.

Carnegie Wins

The Panthers from the University of Pittsburgh had no trouble downing Geneva college 54-43 and ending the latter's four-game winning streak; Carnegie Tech's journey to Cleveland paid off to the tune of a 50-35 win over Case; Thiel college, off the courts since 1942, started the new year off by defeating an alumni team, 44-43, while St. Vincent's college made the mistake of going to Morgantown, W. Va., where West Virginia university administered an 88-30 lacing.

In other games Saturday night, Westminster college (New Wilmington, Pa.) defeated the Olmsted Flyers 55-35 in Middletown; Gettysburg routed an invading Juniata college five 44-33; East Stroudsburg teachers had no luck at Easton and lost to Lafayette, 65-43; Muhlenberg won its fifth straight, 47-38, in downing Penn State at Allentown; West Chester Teachers' lost to Kutztown Teachers', 58-54; Shipensburg Teachers' trimmed Millersville Teachers', 60-54; Bloomsburg Teachers' found Lock Haven Teachers' an easy 47-26 target; Manhattan college invaded Reading for a 58-41 win over Albright college; the University of Delaware ticketed Swarthmore with its fifth straight loss, 38-24; Rhode Island state took the measure of Villanova at Kingston, R. I., 84-67; Navys midshipmen ran roughshod over Bucknell at Annapolis, 71-30; and Canisius defeated Scranton, 51-31, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Games Scheduled

Tomorrow Geneva college plays at Westminster and on Wednesday 19 Keystone state quintets see action—13 in all—Pennsylvania frays. These include:

Juniata at Dickinson; Bucknell at Villanova; Gettysburg at Western Maryland; Scranton at Lafayette; Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; Penn at Valley Forge General hospital (Phoenixville, Pa.); Catholic university at St. Joseph's, Haverford at Delaware; Swarthmore at Army; Muhlenberg at Franklin and Marshall and Temple at Penn State; Grave City at Washington and Jefferson.

Mahanoy City, defending champion in the Black Diamond league, meets Lansford at home, with Mauch Chunk at Blythe Township, Nesquehoning at Summit Hill and Tamaqua at Coaldale.

Only one game is listed in the Central States loop, with State College, triumphant over Bellefonte in the opener, 37-31, going to South Williamsport.

Another winning streak will be tested when Indiana, with seven consecutive victories, invades Fennedale to open the tri-county league season.

Other games across the state find Phillipsburg, N. J., at Allentown; Frackville at Pottsville; Hazle Township at Easton; Wilkes-Barre Myers at Hazleton; Bethlehem at Coatesville; Conemaugh Township at Bedford; Williamsport at Lock Haven; and Pottstown at Norris-town.

Much Traveled Beck Wants Coaching Job
Decatur, Ill., Jan. 7 (AP)—Walter "Boom Boom" Beck, who has banged around the baseball circuits since he was 16 years old, is retiring from active play but wants to stay in the game.

Discussing his release yesterday by the Pittsburgh Pirates, Beck said, "I think I could catch on with somebody as coach, especially as a coach of pitchers. I've had a lot of experience in that line."

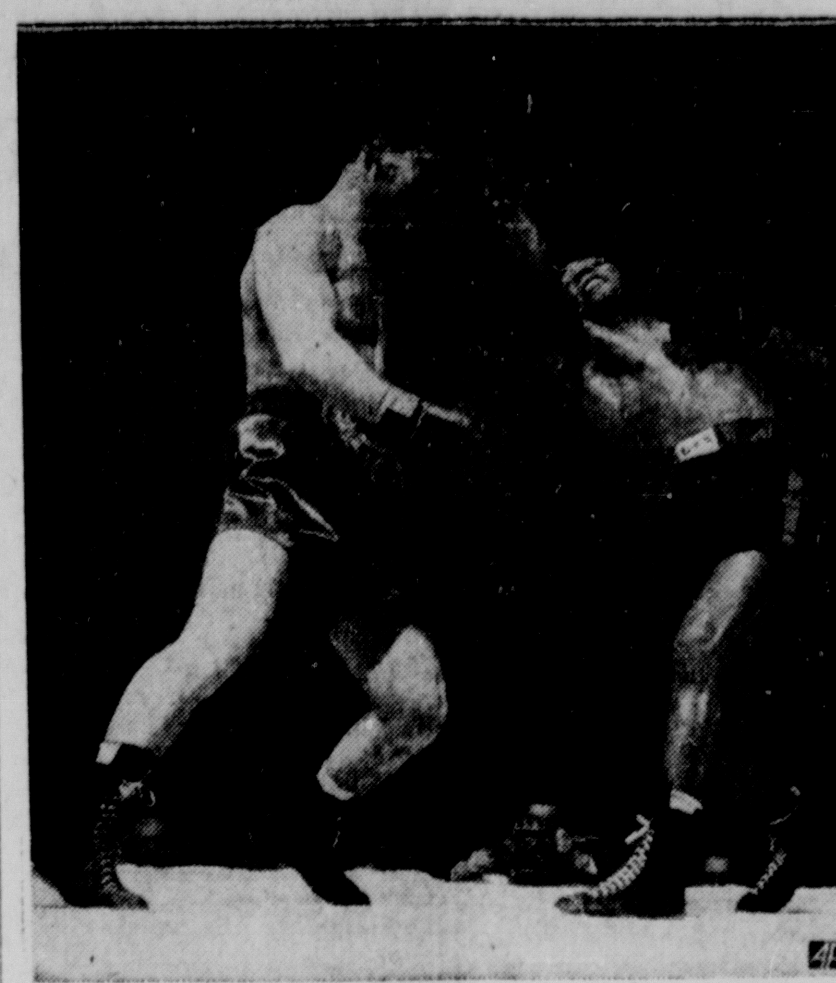

Beck's experience dates back to 1924, when he pitched one inning of one game for the St. Louis Browns. Since then the 37-year-old right-hander has played with 16 teams in nine leagues. Last season he was with Cincinnati until June 23, when he joined the Pirates. He won two and lost four for Cincinnati and won six and lost one for Pittsburgh.

ALLEN TOWN AND LOYOLA TRIMS BRADFORD WIN DELONE 53-25

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, Jan. 7 (AP)—Two winning streaks were kept intact and two were shattered when the state's leading scholastic basketball leagues opened over the past week-end.

Allentown high, defending state champion, chalked up eight straight at the expense of Bethlehem, 52-38, and brought its season point total to 403, an average of a little better than 50 per game.

Warren's smooth working "Big Five" turned back Bradford for the first time in four years, 32-29, to make it nine straight and send the Dragons into Kane tomorrow night as odds-on favorites.

While these two combinations were moving toward a possible clash for the state title in March, the Sharon Tigers were halted after eight straight, bowing to Aliquippa in their first WPAL test, 39-31, while Rock Glen, in the Mountain league, lost to East Mauch Chunk, 40-35, to end a ten-game winning streak.

The Eastern Penn Conference will be idle until Friday, but in the Central Penn loop, Lancaster, fresh from a 39-31 win over John Harris, will play host to York tomorrow night. In other games Lebanon plays at William Penn and John Harris goes to Reading.

PHILLIES LOSE "JIMMY" HAGAN

Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—Jimmy Hagan, a wispy wisecracking Irishman whose 43-year association with organized baseball and the Philadelphia Phillies is second only to Connie Mack, was absent from his desk today—permanently.

The 59-year-old former blackface vaudeville comedian and newspaper copy boy—a Phillies employee since 1903—died yesterday at Temple university hospital after a long illness.

Hagan, christened James Joseph though he never used either name, served the National leaguers in every capacity except manager and president in his long span in baseball.

For 30 years—until he suffered a heart attack in the summer of 1943—the Philadelphia-bred Hagan served as Phillies' road secretary.

He broke into the Phillies' organization as an office boy after giving up a job as copy boy in the sports department of the old Evening Telegraph. For several winters he toured the vaudeville circuit as one half of a blackface team.

He watched Grover Cleveland Alexander break in with the Phils and become one of the greatest hurlers of all time. Club presidents, managers, players came and went but Hagan stuck on—only Connie Mack, with 45 years, has seen more service in organized baseball.

His wife, Althea, three daughters and a son survive.

Shroyer Is Mum On Gubernatorial Race
Harrisburg, Jan. 7 (AP)—John U. Shroyer wouldn't say "yes or no" today to reports he might seek the Republican nomination for governor but he conceded he was thinking about it.

"It's not very often that you get mentioned for governor," the old army friend of Governor Martin told a reporter who asked him about reports he announced his candidacy at a dinner given Highway department officials last week.

Shroyer surmised the reports probably developed from the fact that "some people talked about it, and some said some very nice things about me."

But as for announcement of candidacy, Shroyer said: "I wouldn't say I was in or I wouldn't say I was out."

DIAGNOSIS

"Ah," said the doctor, informed of my ills,
"I could if you wish them prescribe a few pills.
Perhaps they will lessen the pains you recite.
Now what is your preference: pink ones or white?"

"Perhaps, if your symptoms I rightly recall,
To be perfectly honest, you're not sick at all.
The aches you complain of no pills can assuage.
They are merely the twinges that come at your age."

"You say that you used to wake up with delight,
Although you had danced away half of the night,
But now to lie longer a-bed you prefer.
Well, remember, you're not quite as young as you were."

"Time was, on the double the stair-way you'd race,
And now, short of wind, you must slacken your pace.
Your knuckles are swelling; you can't bear the cold.
Old chap you're not sick! You are just getting old!"

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
SERENE, MONUMENTAL FOLKS

In my reading recently I came across the description of a most unusual person. The author said: "She was so serene, so monumental." And then he went on to tell how she impressed everyone, no matter where she might be sitting or what she would be doing.

The picture of that woman has been with me ever since reading about her. From all that I have read and heard about General Eisenhower, he must be that kind of a person. Modest, just, courageous, decisive, and yet withal humanly "monumental." How rare such folks are!

We have all heard the saying about the deepest water running smoothest and with the greatest power. Well, that's the way with "serene, monumental" folks. They do great things. They make far-reaching decisions. They are monumental in character.

I am told that the elder J. P. Morgan could say more in five minutes than most men could outline in an hour or more. And of Marshall Field, the founder of the great Field store in Chicago, and the great Field fortune, it was said that he was a very modest, quiet man, and one of few words. Blusterers are neither serene nor monumental. They are merely noises.

One reason why we should keep our heads, and not worry during a grave crisis, is that—fortunate for the human race—there has always been at least one great leader at the time who has been "so serene, so monumental" that he has saved the day. Washington was such a leader, and so was Lincoln.

So striking was the face and manner of Daniel Webster that it is said when he visited England and walked the streets of London people stopped to look at him, and watched him, he seemed "so serene, so monumental."

The woman to whom the author referred, about which I read, was not a famous woman, but a quiet housewife in a little hut in Ireland, but he was so impressed, as were others, that he took note of her. No one need be noted or famous to qualify as "so serene, so monumental." Such folks are scattered everywhere—but they are always notable when discovered.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Books Are Contacts."

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Rev. Mr. Alleman, late of Gettysburg Seminary has taken charge of the Lutheran Congregations in Danville and Mahoning, Columbia county, Pa.

Married: On the 1st inst., by the Rev. Daniel Hartman, Mr. John B. McCreary, (merchant,) of Petersburg, Y. S., to Miss Rachel P., daughter of George Deardorff, Esq., of Latimore township.

It will be seen from the Message of the governor that our governor, Francis R. Shunk is of the opinion the credit of the State cannot be sustained unless some other sources of revenue are continued; in other words there must be more TAXATION. He gives a "slap" at Gov. Ritner's administration, and the "Buck-shot war"; and as to the Tariff, his opinions are something like those of the Delphian oracle—they may be interpreted to mean what you please.

Annexation of Ireland: On Tuesday in the H. of R. of the U. S. Mr. McConnell, of Alabama, asked leave to introduce Resolutions for the annexation of Ireland to this Union, on the ground that she was tyrannized over by England, and had always cherished Democratic principles. The House refused to suspend the rules to receive them. The reading of them was interrupted by laughter, and the whole thing was regarded by many as a fitting burlesque upon the proceedings of and speeches in Congress.

Oregon: The Committee on Foreign Relations have reported a resolution to give notice to Great Britain of the termination of the joint occupancy of Oregon. The question is therefore thrown open for debate upon its merits, and the contest has fairly commenced. The Southern members appear to take ground against the notice and war.

No change in the markets: Receipt price of Flour $5.12 1/2.

Thanks: Our carrier desires us to tender his thanks to his patrons in town for the liberality with which they greeted his New Year's Carol.

A Holiday: The new year coming in on Sunday, Monday last was observed in New York and the New England States, and throughout the country generally, as a holiday, by the closing of places of business and making "New Year calls." In Gettysburg the stores were closed during the afternoon. The day being comparatively mild, and no skating. "Young America" held high carnival on our streets, keeping up an incessant discharge of firecrackers, pistols and guns. The zouaves paraded and made a fine appearance. We are glad to say that we saw little or no drunkenness during the entire day.

License: The following applications to keep a Tavern and Restaurant, have been filed in my office, with the requisite number of signers, and will be presented at the Court of Quarter Sessions, on the 4th Monday of January, 1871:

Married: Butt-Pfeffer: On the 29th ult., at the residence of the bride's parents, by the Rev. W. R. H. Deatrich, Mr. Jacob H. Butt, to Miss Sue H., daughter of Mr. Frederick Pfeffer, all of Cumberland township.

Flaharty-Becker: By the Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, on the 29th ult., Mr. Thaddeus W. Flaharty to Miss Mary C. Becker, all of this place.

Howard-Rahter: On the 27th ult., in the Lutheran church, Littlestown, by the Rev. M. J. Alleman, Mr. Charles Howard to Miss Mollie Rahter, both of Littlestown.

Hartzell-Beamer: On the 22d ult., by the Rev. D. W. Wolf, at the house of the bride's parents in Texas, Butler township, Mr. Henry W. Hartzell, of Middletown, to Miss Harriet Beamer, of Texas.

Orner-Crum: On the 8th of November, by Rev. D. W. Wolf, at the house of the bride's parents, Mr. John H. Orner to Miss Lavina E. Crum, of Menallen township.

Ringwalt-McClellan: On the 28th ult., in York, by Rev. H. E. Niles, A. Z. Ringwalt, of Lancaster, to Ellie G. McClellan, of Gettysburg.

Sadler-Herman: At the M. E. Parsonage, Hanover, on the 25th ult., by Rev. John A. Dixon, Mr. John A. Sadler to Miss Harriet Herman, all of Adams county.

Yeatts-Gilbert: On the 29th ult., by Rev. J. E. Honeycutt, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. William Yeatts to Miss Ella, daughter of John G. Gilbert, all of Hantertown.

BYRNES SEEKS NEW ACCORDS ON LEFTOVERS

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—After nine busy days at home, Secretary of State Byrnes leaves today for London to attend the United Nations assembly and tackle world problems unsolved at Moscow.

Among other things, Byrnes will try to get:

1. An international agreement on the Dardanelles question, thus easing Russo-Turkish relations.

2. Agreement for a Soviet-British-American commission to study the complicated problems of oil-rich Iran.

3. British and Russian assurances that "full security" will be guaranteed in operations of the United Nations atomic energy commission.

Aides said Byrnes is confident UNO will get off to a good start, and that the wide area of agreement achieved by the Big Three foreign ministers at Moscow can be expended to cover a few more knotty questions.

Since returning from Moscow December 29, Byrnes continued to push toward solutions of international problems. Subjects covered included:

Siam. The United States resumed relations with that country Saturday, after sanctioning a war-ending agreement between Siam and Britain.

Palestine. The British-American committee to study the Jewish immigration question and the plight of homeless European Jews scheduled its first public hearing at the state department today.

China. Before leaving, Byrnes studied reports from Gen. George C. Marshall, indicating probability of an early end to China's civil war and good possibility for an agreement at last between nationalists and communists.

Ends Responsibility
Southeast Asia. Last night, the U. S. announced its withdrawal from the joint command of Lord Louis Mountbatten. Thus, this country, which shared responsibility for the original decision to send British troops to Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies as part of the Japanese surrender, no longer has any responsibility for the way in which those operations are carried out. Privately critical for weeks of British-Dutch tactics against Japanese nationalists, the U. S. now can follow an independent political course in politically-stirred southeast Asia.

American officials believe generally that the Turkish and Iranian problems, in that order, constitute the greatest threats to the success of the UNO, whose general assembly opens Thursday. Hence, these officials expect Byrnes to devote most of his time to helping iron out the two explosive near eastern situations.

Plants Dry Out In Small Pots

Special attention should be given to house plants in small pots, as they dry out more quickly than those in large containers.

A carefully worked out planting plan is a "must" in every gardener's calendar.

Save the ashes from the fireplace for next season's vegetable garden. Hardwood ashes are valuable for fertilizing the soil, and coal ashes for lightening heavy soil.

Cuttings of begonias in clean sand may be started now.

Need Ventilation
When the weather is sunny and mild, lift the sashes of the cold-frame for an hour to give the seedlings and other plants the necessary ventilation.

Make sure none of your house plants touch the window panes at night, as they may freeze.

Keep your palms on the dry side, as the winter season is their resting period.

There are several pests that attack house plants during the winter, and periodical examination is necessary to discover them promptly.

On pleasant days, grape vines may be pruned. This task may be done up to Washington's birthday.

Warning On Oil
If you have calla lilies growing in pots, help them along with a weekly application of a complete plant food.

A word of warning to growers of house plants: Never use oil to give a glossy appearance to the leaves of any plant. The oil clogs the breathing pores and collects an extra quantity of dust.

With outdoor gardening activities at a standstill, your time may be devoted to repairing garden tools and other garden accessories.

Owner Of Plane Killed In Crash

Wexford, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—A surplus army trainer plane crashed near here Saturday, killing one man and seriously injuring another. The accident occurred shortly after the plane took off from the nearby Perry airport.

The dead man was identified as Melvon Wattenpohl, 38, of Wexford, father of three children, and the owner of the plane. Injured was Arthur Steigerwald, 27, a war veteran, also of Wexford. The plane was demolished when it ploughed into a hillside.

PLANNING WILL SAVE LABOR IN SHRUB LAYOUTS

It pays to take time and care in planning the shrub planting for the coming spring because errors in selection of the most desirable kinds, misplacement and incorrect grouping or spacing soon will show up and require considerable labor and expense to correct. The gardener must realize that shrubs are among the most permanent plants of our gardens, and that if properly cared for they will contribute their beauty for generations.

Because most gardeners want an immediate effect as much as a permanent one, the planting must be arranged to serve both purposes. This is not difficult. First insert on the plan, which must be drawn to scale, the shrubs wanted for permanent effect, spacing sufficiently far apart so that they will not be crowded when they reach their full dimensions. For immediate effect choose other kinds for planting between the permanent ones. For this purpose the more common and cheaper shrubs will be found satisfactory.

Avoid Disturbing Plants
Where the matter has been worked out carefully, there will be no need for disturbing the permanent plants. As these gain size, the temporary ones are taken out before they interfere with the normal branching habit of the former. Because most gardeners have only one chance in a lifetime to plan the permanent features of a garden, the matter deserves careful study.

Determining the height and width normal for each species, however, will not suffice. Of these adaptability to thrive in the shade is one of the most important after the list has been restricted to those which are hardy in your particular climate. Many of the shade-loving shrubs have another specific requirement and that is an acid soil. They must be grouped together for planting in a bed where the soil is composed of much peatmoss with flowers of sulphur or aluminum sulphate added, to increase the acidity to a desirable degree. Testing soil for acidity or alkalinity is easy with any of the kits made for this purpose.

In planning a planting of shrubs also keep in mind the need of fertilizers which must be on hand when the holes are prepared for planting as early in the spring as the soil is dry enough for handling.

In making your selection of the shrubs try to get away from the usual monotony. In addition to the

Knowing the San Jose Scale

Few other insect pests, common to this part of the United States feed on so many different kinds of plants or cause more damage than the well known yet still widely unrecognized San Jose scale. After almost a half century of combat this enemy remains a menace warranting full and careful study by all fruit growers and owners of shade trees and ornamental shrubs and vines.

To comprehend the potential destructiveness of the San Jose scale, one well authenticated fact should prove sufficient. It is this: The offspring from one parent scale during the productive season, or from approximately early spring until early fall, may amount to more than one and a half billion fecund females. Of course, birds, inclement weather and several parasitical enemies wage continual war on scales and keep them from becoming more serious or even overwhelming. However, the rate of multiplication and survival of the San Jose scale, plus the extent of its ravages, merits prompt and thorough combat measures wherever it is found.

This scale's life history is simple. It lives over winter in an immature state beneath a small dark gray or blackish scale fastened to the host common kinds such as forsythia, bridal wreath, philadelphus hydrangea, snowberry, weigela and viburnum, include some of the little known shrubs. There are many of these, all easy to grow and just as showy as the more popular ones. Abelia grandiflora (the glossy abelia), Acanthopanax pentaphyllum (five-leaf aralia), Amelanchier (shadblow), Benzoin aestivale (spice bush), Ceanothus americanus (jerry tree), Chionanthus virginica (white fringe tree), Kalmia, latifolia (mountain laurel), Leucothoe, Mahonia aquifolium (Oregon holly-grape), Pieris floribunda (mountain andromeda), Stephanandra flexuosa, all are excellent and should receive consideration because they also do well in shaded position.

For sunny spots keep in mind the beautiful Pyracantha lalandi (fire-thorn), Kolkwitzia amabilis (beauty bush), Exochorda grandiflora (pearl bush), Vitex macrophylla (chaste tree), Tamarix, Rhus cotinus (smoke tree), Callicarpa (beauty berry) and some of the unusual species of fiburnum such as Carlesii and Burkwoodi. These are just a few which will add special interest to your planting.

Of course the acid soil bed should contain some rhododendrons and several kinds of azaleas, including calendulacea and mucronulata.

plant. In this stage it is barely discernible to the unaided eye. In early spring or as soon as sap begins to rise in the plant, the insect begins to feed by sucking the sap, and growth thereafter is rapid. In early April tiny winged males emerge from the male scales, which are somewhat smaller but more elongated than the female scales. After mating at once the female dies. About a month later the female begins producing living young—small yellowish, oval, lice-like creatures which crawl over the host plant for a few hours seeking a suitable place to settle down to spend the rest of their immovable lives. These young start feeding at once by inserting their sharp beaks in the plant tissues.

Full growth is attained swiftly, and in about 24 to 26 days after a young scale is born, the male is matured and emerges to mate and start another generation. It is this speeding cycle of development which permits the amazing rate of productivity mentioned earlier. And it is to prevent so threatening a danger through sheer numbers that prompt combat measures are often urgent.

On peach trees the San Jose scale usually infests older rather than newer and softer woods. On pear and apple trees terminal twigs may be most heavily infested, with numerous young scales moving to the calyx and stem ends of the fruits. Sweet cherry trees are more susceptible to scales than sour varieties.

It is often difficult to recognize this insect or even to discover its presence. But owners may safely suspect infestation of practically all deciduous woody plants. Aid of an ordinary reading glass is helpful to note the identifying nipple-like prominence in the center of each ashen-gray scale. Readers unable to make positive identification are invited to mail specimens of suspected twigs, bark or branches to the editor. Detection in time to permit application of an effective dormant spray is important. Sprays strong enough to kill this scale after plant growth appears will usually kill the plant.

Why is DuPont House Paint so brilliant white? Because it's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's even whiter than snow! This paint stays white, too, because—

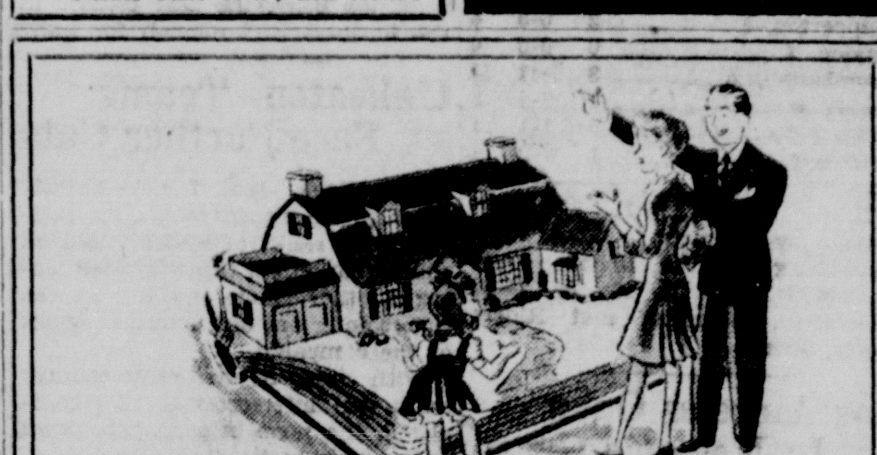

It's Self-Cleaning
DuPont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rain wash this powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. (Excessive accumulations of dirt, particularly in sooty industrial communities, or in heavily shaded locations, may delay or interfere with this process.) Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Guards the Surface
DuPont House Paint also protects against rot and decay, gives lasting beauty and real durability.

Costs No More than other good house paints.
WHITE and Light Colors $3.50 gal.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my mother, Mrs. Blanche Pitzer Peters, who passed away three years ago today, January 7, 1943.

The month of January is here.
To me the saddest of the year.
Because it took from me my mother
Just three years ago today.

Oh the memory of that eve.
When my mother passed away.
Our hearts were crushed with sorrow
And many silent tears were shed.
God say our trouble here.
And opened wide the golden gate,
And called you across the silver stream
Where the angels sing.

Yes you are there.
On the golden strand,
Watching night and day by the
heavenly light,
For me when I leave this world of care.

Farewell, farewell, mother dear,
I have spent three years without you.
Unknown and forgotten by some you may be
But by me you'll never be forgotten.
Sadly missed by her daughter,
Mrs. Arthur Slaybaugh.

Enchanted Journey

AP News Features

By Helen R. Woodward

Chapter 17

Edith dismounted and Whit took Nancy's bridle and led her to a Negro stable boy who was waiting to un-saddle her. Then he came back to where Edith stood.

"Clay Elliot was looking for you a while ago," she said.

"I saw him," Whit answered.
"Come into the office, Edith."

She followed him into the walnut-paneled room filled with racing trophies, seated herself in a chair and threw one leg over its arm. Whit sat on a corner of the desk.

"I suppose I owe you an apology!"
he said grudgingly.

"I should think so!" she answered, her anger rising at his nonchalance. "Go ahead. I should like to see how one goes about apologizing to someone who has lost faith in one!"

His face turned a dull, ugly red.
"So you're going to take that attitude! I might have expected something like this, with Laura's training behind you!"

She sprang to her feet, almost beside herself with fury. And the man saw himself in her flashing eyes and bitter mouth. "We'll leave my mother out of this! And as for you—why wouldn't I be hurt and disappointed? You've spent time and a great deal of trouble to build yourself up as a fine person in my eyes.
I was beginning to believe that they were all wrong about you. That you weren't selfish and arrogant and cruel—that you were the kind of father I'd always wanted. I—I was beginning to love you—I was lonely for a mother when she said, 'Discipline is what you need, Whit. What a pity no one ever gave you a good dose of it! Just remember this—Barbara is not like my mother. You couldn't break Barbara with very little trouble because she loves you so very much!'"

His cynical laughter filled the small room. "How did you ever manage to accumulate so much wisdom in nineteen years?"

She said, "I shan't get angry with you again now, Whit. I'm worn out with it already. Just go to Barbara now and ask her what is troubling her. I'll try to readjust my opinion of you."

"It makes very little difference to me what you think of me," he said suddenly, childishly.

She smiled. "I think it does—but we won't argue the point. I'm going to my room. As I said before you'd better go find Barbara."

When they all met at the dinner table that evening Whit was exultant because of the news that he was to have a son. "It might conceivably be a girl, you know!" Old Eugenia reminded him a bit tartly.

"We'll see about that, won't we,
Babey?" he asked and put his arm tenderly about Barbara. She smiled up at him in utter contentment.

And so the storm seemed to have passed and Whit with sweeping generosity chose to blot from his mind the words that had passed between him and Edith. He was gay, charming, entertaining. He drove Barbara into town for a soda before bedtime and insisted that Edith go along. When Barbara said "Please, Edith," she went but was unable to adjust herself to Whit's mood of carefree gaiety, or even to Barbara's calm forgetfulness. Quarrels in her life with Laura had been fearful, almost unheard-of things. She could not accept them lightly.

She felt years older than
she was.

She felt years older than
she was.

She felt years older than
she was.

She felt years older than
she was.

She felt years older than

Final Estimate For Income Tax Due on January 15

In general there are three groups who should get busy at once on their estimates. They are:

1. Farmers.
2. Those who should have filed an estimate previously, but let it slide.
3. Those who filed earlier, but whose incomes exceeded their estimates materially.

G. I. COMMITTEE CARRIES "BEEF" TO GEN. STYER

By JOHN GROVER

Manila, Jan. 7 (AP)—Thousands of milling, marching American army enlisted men today carried their protests against a War Department demobilization slowdown directly to their commanding general, and despite his request for a cancellation said it was too late to call off another mass protest meeting set for tonight.

G. I. committeemen also sought to voice their complaints to Secretary of War Patterson on his expected arrival here—but learned he has decided to by-pass Manila on his current world tour.

A committee of five G. I.'s personally placed the men's "beef" in the hands of Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, commander of army forces in the western Pacific, after a parade of about 3,000 soldiers to headquarters this morning.

Styer told the committeemen that the "changing international situation" forbade sending all eligible men home immediately.

Military police said all the demonstrations had been orderly, and even good-natured, but Styer asked that a mass meeting planned for later today be called off. The committeemen said it was too late to do so, and estimated 10,000 men would attend.

Afraid of Trouble

The general declined an invitation to address the meeting, but said he would make a statement through the press and radio.

"No matter how good your intentions," Styer told the committee, "I am afraid some hotheads will cause trouble and somebody will get hurt."

The general also said that the mass meeting would have a bad influence on the residents of the Philippines.

Members of the G. I. committee were T. J. Harold Schiffrin, 66 Maria St., Rochester, N. Y.; T. J. Sheldon Newberger, 1814 Albion avenue, Chicago; T. J. Herbert Levine, Jr., 150 West 79th street, New York city; Staff Sgt. William Kennedy, 1 Synagogue street, Newport, N. H.; and Staff Sgt. Ira Gollobin, 7 West 45th street, New York city.

"We don't blame the army forces of the western Pacific, we blame the War Department," said Kennedy, who was slated to be chairman of tonight's mass meeting.

Blame "Brass Hats"

The War Department on Jan. 4 announced a slowdown of the demobilization program and delay in the rate of returning troops home, because of difficulties in getting replacements for overseas service.

The G. I. demonstrators, by word and by mimeographed pamphlets which suddenly appeared along the routes of march, said there had been much "snafu" and contradiction over redeployment, and bitterly criticized the War Department and army "brass hats."

The general told the committeemen he would arrange a meeting, if the men desired it, with a Senate subcommittee deal in about a week to investigate military surpluses and postwar bases in the Pacific.

One of the demonstration parades yesterday headed for Styer's headquarters, but was halted at Quezon bridge by military police. Other parades and meetings were held on Rizal avenue, Rizal stadium and Nichols air field.

The men headed for the mass meeting at headquarters this morning aboard army trucks, but military police stopped the vehicles and ordered the men to dismount. The demonstrators complied, then good-naturedly continued afoot.

Honor Memory Of Negro Scientist

Pittsburgh, Jan. 7 (AP)—Senator Francis J. Myers urged last night that United Nations control over the conquered countries be maintained and cooperation at home be continued without regard to race, color or creed. He spoke at a rally here last night honoring the memory of George Washington Carver, the slave-born negro scientist. Myers declared:

"It will be years before the ideologies, the false hatreds inculcated into the youth of Europe and Asia, are eradicated."

Rep. Robert J. Corbett outlined the life of Carver, and called him "typical of free America."

Two Pennsylvania members of Congress are the authors of legislation officially designating Jan. 6 as "National George Washington Carver Day."

Youth Is Killed In Freak Plane Mishap

Ligonier, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old William Welsch was watching an airplane trying to take off from a field Saturday. Suddenly, the plane ripped through a hedge-row, hit a fence, tore lose a fence post and hurled it through the air. The post struck the boy in the head and killed him.

The pilot, Ralph E. Gerrard and his passenger, Maurice Joyce, both of Youngstown, were unhurt.

The plane had landed on the farm Thursday because of low ceiling.

Regular air mail service was inaugurated in 1918 between New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, Calif. (AP)—Gregory Peck is sliced four ways and likes it.

There have been reports that Greg was disgruntled about an odd contractual arrangement whereby four different producers share the use of his face. But he tells me "it ain't so."

"The system has worked out very well," he said. "So far I've worked hard, but luckily they have all been good pictures."

They have been good—and expensive. "Spellbound," "Keys of the Kingdom" and "Valley of Decision" cost plenty and netted plenty. And "The Yearling" and "Duel in the Sun," in which he has been working simultaneously, are among the costliest pictures ever made.

"With those kinds of pictures, how can I lose," he asked. "Some people say I'm making too many, but as long as they're good, I don't worry."

Peck's only beef with the setup has been the lack of vacation time. But soon he'll get six weeks, which he'll probably spend in Arizona.

Greg's future is pretty well outlined. He has one picture to make for Benedict Bogeaus and Casey Robinson, three for Selznick, two for MGM and three for 20th-Fox. After that—if he isn't playing character parts—he would like to make one picture a year and spend the rest of the time on the stage.

I hear that Lew Ayres is still undecided about the future. He has no commitments with MGM, contrary to common belief, so it is doubtful if there will be any more Dr. Kildare pictures. Lew does not want to do any film unless it has a serious nature. The subject need not be evangelical, but it must have a purpose.

Lew is greatly interested in the 16mm. field and may go into production of serious pictures. He directed at Republic some years ago. So far, he is concerned with getting readjusted to civilian life. Friends have noticed a notable difference—Lew now smokes and has an occasional drink, which he never did before he went into the service.

Hollywood, Calif. (AP)—Ex-Sgt. Bud Hutton and Andy Rooney have a problem in writing the screen story of the Stars and Stripes.

Rooney and Hutton are two of the Army paper's founding fathers, and were commissioned by MGM to write a movie about it. "The trouble with this job," they say, "is that we can't use a lot of stuff because people wouldn't believe it."

"Stars and Stripes" will not be a battle picture, through choice of its authors and because such films now lack box office impact. The battles in the picture will be mainly between the paper's staff and general.

uled for Jan. 5, arrived late).

At Los Angeles

Miscellaneous personnel: Marcus island from Pearl Harbor, 1,030; George Middlemas from Yokohama, 42; four LSM's from Pearl Harbor, 28.

At San Diego

A few navy passengers on each of the following: LCS 569 and LCT 173, 211, 287, 105, 302 and 483.

At Seattle

Miscellaneous personnel: USS Wayne from Subic Bay, 12 army, 1,675 navy; Marine Star from Lingayen, 29 army; Cape Henlopen from Okinawa, 1,605 army.

At Tacoma

USS Gosper from Hawaii, 536 army.

At Portland

No arrivals.

At San Francisco

General Collins from Manila, 3,303 army; Ozard from Manila, 1,944 mostly army; Carlos Carillo from Manila, 1,397 army; Susan Carroll from Manila, 821 army; Lewis Emery, Jr., from Leyte, 74 army; Tabara from Leyte, 480 army; Bolinger from Eniwetok, 2,260 army.

U. S. Cruiser Nashville, with 764 navy men from Kwajalein. The Nashville towed in the transport St. Mary's, which carried 1,866 soldiers from Okinawa.

NEW MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS TAKE OVER IN STATE

Harrisburg, Jan. 7 (AP)—It was inauguration day for thousands of new municipal officials throughout Pennsylvania today.

David A. Lawrence, head of the Democratic party in the Keystone state for more than a decade, became mayor of Pittsburgh while in the east, another Democrat, James T. Hanlon, succeeded Republican Howard J. Snowden as mayor of Scranton.

Forty jurists, headed by State Superior Court Judge John C. Arnold and W. Heber Dithrich, both Republicans and the only state-wide officials named last November, also took office for new terms.

Leading Democrats converged on Pittsburgh for the Lawrence inauguration. These included J. Warren Mickle, Lawrence's successor at the party helm, who called together western party leaders earlier in the day for initial talks about the 1946 gubernatorial campaign.

Judges Arnold and Dithrich were originally appointed to the Superior Court by Governor Martin to fill vacancies. Judge Dithrich took the oath for a full ten-year term at Pittsburgh Friday. Judge Arnold also decided to take his oath of office at his home city of Clearfield.

Philadelphia Changes

Philadelphia saw the last of that metropolis' administrative offices become Republican with the inauguration of former State Representative Frank J. Timmann as city controller. He defeated Democrat Robert C. White last November in a GOP sweep.

Nineteen other Pennsylvania cities inaugurated mayors but in eight of them the ceremony meant also the start of a new term.

New mayors sworn in were Dr. George E. Hayward, Meadville, a Republican who won as a Democrat; Frank Horan, Pittston, Republican; Clarence Lonzer, Hazleton, Republican; J. Fred Kinley, Corry, Republican; Charles A. Kincaid, McKeesport, Republican; Frank Kopper, Duquesne, Republican; W. Urban Gillespie, Jeannette, Republican; Jugo J. Parente, Monessen, Democrat; Charles Nedley, Beaver Falls, Republican; John C. Sherner, Pottsville, Republican; Joseph B. Nesbit, Sunbury, Republican.

New Judges

Starting new terms were Mayors Claude A. Lord, Pottsville, Republican; John J. Mullen, Clairton, Democrat; W. C. Wailey, New Kensington, Republican; Dr. Dale E. Cary, Lancaster, Republican; James G. Bohlander, Franklin, Republican;
